OTHER SUITS*Filed For Approaching Term Circuit Court.

Suit has been filed to break the will of the late Frederick Mielke. The plaintiffs, Alberta Mielke, Amelia Kuence, Eliza Steimke and L. and Ruth Mosener, claim to be heirs under the will. They allege that the document purporting to have been the last will and testament "was not the last will and codicil." The defendants to the suit are F. John and Edward Mielke, Laura Brackrogge and Lena and Helen Mielke.

J. W. Wade sues the Frank Fehr Brewing company and Ed Gray for $5,000 damages sustained by himself and $100 for injury to his automobile, as a result of a horse belonging to the brewing company running into his machine on the night of Feb. 2. Plaintiff alleges that the horse was being unhitched at Mr. Gray's stable and broke away, running out East Seventh street, and collided with his machine.

CLAY SCHOOL*Will Give A Play At The Opera House.

Clay street school children, who have the love of our entire community, will be the next on the program to give an entertainment.

So generous are our people to our school plays that we are assured "old Clay" will be right there with a rousing, big crowd.

It seems a long look ahead; but the directors say it takes time to perfect a play. The exact date will be given soon; but can promise, early in April, at Holland's Opera House the curtain will roll up on the very best school entertainment ever presented in our city.

Belgian Refugees.

A Belgian refugee colony has been established at Tullahoma, Tenn. The people are directly from the war zone and are destitute, except as they have skill in producing the best products of the soil such as poultry, fruit, market gardening and kindred things. The lands are sold on time and tools, houses, seeds, a cow for each family and a few chickens were also furnished, to be paid for on long time, generally about ten years.

SLAYS LAWYER AT PIKEVILLE

Milton Butler, Attorney For Defendants in Election Fraud Cases, Murdered.

Pikeville, Ky., Feb. 12.—After hearing twenty-one cases of men charged with election frauds, Circuit Judge Robertson adjourned court until Monday because of the murder of Milton Butler by John Hall, a negro. Butler is a brother of former Judge John F. Butler, counsel for some of the 1,100 men on trial.

Hall shot Butler because Butler hitched his horse to Hall's fence. A posse caught him in the hills. A lynching was narrowly averted. Butler was attorney for some of the defendants.

There were four convictions yesterday, the men being fined from $5 to $100 and disfranchised. Thirteen were dismissed on demurrers to their indictments. One man was dismissed because the indictment was meant for another, and in the other cases the jury disagreed.

Princess

The mere fact that a play is presented featuring Francis X. Bushman, Rapley Holmes, Bryant Washburn and Ruth Stonehouse is enough to insure a packed house, but the Princess presents no ordinary play to-day in "Mongrel and Master." Woman's devotion, burglary, reformation through a child's influence, love, intrigue and a happy marriage all make up a story of absorbing interest throughout the three parts. There are other good pieces and the program is a very strong one.
